Our Guest Speaker

Michele Dematteis is on a mission to bring ease, efficiency, and safety to the movement of goods. His business Joloda Hydraroll provides loading solutions worldwide.

Starting as a management accountant/FD in manufacturing in 1997, he bought an injection moulding business out of receivership and sold it to its biggest competitor in 2006. His next venture in 2008 was to buy Sovex, a conveyor manufacturer. He sold this to a German competitor in 2015.

The double-digit growth of both businesses delivered extraordinary ROI's for shareholders.

He purchased Joloda Hydraroll (2017) and then acquired the service division of Sovex to create Joloda Conveyor Services, a national conveyor breakdown and maintenance provider that now boasts customers including Amazon, DHL, DPD & Yodel.

During his 5 years at the helm Michele has driven growth organically and by acquisition. BGF funding in 2019 enabled worldwide growth. Corporations such as Tesla, Coca-Cola & Heinz use their systems and Joloda Hydraroll is supplying new sectors like modular housing and ecommerce warehouses, cementing their position as a global leader in loading and unloading solutions.
